

SPEND THREE DAYS AT CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY FOR FREE!

If you're a bright year 12 student and you're wondering whether you'd fit in at a top university, then you should apply for the CUSU Shadowing Scheme 2013.

What is the CUSU Shadowing Scheme?

Every January-February, Cambridge University Students' Union (CUSU) brings bright state-educated students to Cambridge for three days. We pair you up with a current Cambridge student. You can go with them to their lectures and classes, as well as trying out fun activities like rowing, writing for a student paper and checking out the cultural and religious communities. 'Shadows' (that's you) love seeing what exactly student life is like here.

What is Cambridge like?

A million different students will tell you a million different things, but overall it's a positive place to be for anyone who loves studying academic subjects. It's bustling with all sorts of people and so many activities, where you get world-class teaching and living costs are low. On top of that, Cambridge graduates are amongst the most employable people in the UK, and our Careers Service is second to none, open to you whilst you're at Cambridge and even afterwards.

Want to come?

We select participants who do well in school but who may not get the opportunity to visit and learn about top universities otherwise. And the whole weekend is paid for by CUSU!

If you're up for it, or still unsure, visit our website

www.applytocambridge.com

to find out more and apply.

The application deadline is

Sunday 2nd December

Cambridge University

Students' Union

SHADOWING SCHEME 2013