

The Hat Club

Thursday 8pm
6th February
Pavilion Room
Hughes Hall

Miranda Abild (Department of Psychology)

Can your sexual orientation change?

With recent furores over the Sochi Olympics and claims that the UK flooding was divine retribution for gay marriage, this timely paper will review the empirical evidence regarding sexual orientation fluidity. Can a heterosexual person become homosexual, or vice versa? How do we define and quantify sexual orientation? Drawing on cultural, clinical, physiological, anthropological, genetic, and psychological research, all these questions and more will be discussed.

The evening is organised by the Hat Club, Hughes Hall's Society for talks and debate. For further enquiries, contact Will Riddington, the acting Hat Club Co-President - wr245@cam.ac.uk
